

MONOLOGUE JOKES

The job report is planned to drop this Friday. What we do we know so far? At least one person is employed.

AOL went offline for good this week. Before doing so they posted on their phone number on their close friends if anyone wanted to dial them up.

Jane Goodall died after 91 years yesterday. Which is terrible, because now they're all going to have to learn how to use Google translate.

TrumpRX created this week in partnership with Pfizer. The service is promising cheaper drugs for US citizens. The con: they're all horse tranquilizers.

A 12,000 pound grizzly bear named Chunk became the champion for the National Park Service's "Fat Bear Week". When I asked for comment on his victory, Chunk said, "It feels like a hollow victory when everyone's doing Ozempic nowadays."

The government got shut down on Wednesday. The government promises to "not worry, as this is only another DOGE spending cut."

Daniel Ek stepped down as Spotify CEO this past Wednesday. When asked for comment he said he "wanted a break from the ads".

A bunch of comedians are getting backlash for participating in a comedy festival in Saudi Arabia. Pete Davidson, who was on the lineup, said he only there for the money and, in all honesty, got it confused with Dubai.

Taylor Swift's album Life of A Showgirl dropped today. And don't worry Swifties, Taylor's Version will drop next month.

Yesterday, two Delta jets had a low-speed collision while taxiing on the LaGuardia runway. Air traffic control replied, "Planes will be planes."

Sketches / Desk Bits

Funny Facts (desk bit)

Did you know that science can sometimes be funny? The framing for is a cheery children science show, with our host dressed as a Bill-Nye-esc guy. This desk bit will be edutainment: The set-up will be a real science fact, followed by a wacky punchline.

Examples

- Did you know that peanuts are not actually nuts? They're legumes! We sadly can't say the same for RFK Jr.
- Did you know that yawning is contagious? It's true! Unless you used up all your sick days.
- Did you know that only 10% of the world's population is left-handed? That also means 10% population is doing everything backwards.
- Did you know that learning a second language can lead to structural changes in the brain that enhance cognitive abilities? You probably did. But I bet you didn't know that knowing only one language causes your brain to be peer-pressured into Duolingo.
- Did you know that butterflies taste with their feet? Perverts.

Kicking the Bucket (desk bit)

Every year, another year passes.. Anyways, in this desk bit, the host is a gruff old cowboy chatting with a young audience out on the front porch. They've lived a simple life, but have a lot of knowledge which they want to pass on alongside spitting into a bucket. You know, they're not going to be around forever, as their time slot ends in 30 minutes.

Examples

- Before I kick the bucket, I want you to know... just because it's on clearance doesn't mean you have to buy it. It's on clearance for a reason.
- Before I kick the bucket, I want you to know... The surgeon general said alcohol is the third leading cause of cancer. You should always listen to experts, unless they're experts in being wet blankets.
- Before I kick the bucket, I want you to know... just because Morgan Freeman is in a movie, doesn't mean you need to go see it. That's how I ended up watching three hours of penguins fucking.
- Before I kick the bucket, I want you to know... the right of way can be confusing. Especially at four-way stops.
- Before I kick the bucket, I want you to know... coochie coo! Take note: it doesn't take much to compromise your integrity.
